

TURO INFIRMARY.

Seventieth Annual Meeting of the Officers and Members.

NOBLE INSTITUTION FOR THE CARE OF THE SICK AND INFIRM.

Reports of President, Secretary and Treasurer, Giving a Plain Statement of Internal Management.

The annual meeting of the Turo Infirmary and Hebrew Benevolent Association was held in the Athenaeum of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, at the corner of Clito and St. Charles avenue, Sunday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Henry Marx, president, at 4 o'clock promptly. Mr. Edward Dinkelspiel, secretary, and about eighty members present. Immediately after the meeting had been called to order, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The president, Mr. H. Marx, read his annual report, in which he called attention to the improvements made in all the modern equipments of the building and of the Clinic. He reported that the usefulness of the free clinic was extending considerably, the last year showing an increase of 4817 cases. The training school for nurses had been established during the past year. The magnificent bequest of W. T. Richards, ($10,000), was a large gift received by the association.

Rev. Dr. Leucht, first vice-president, then submitted his report as to the condition of the association. The sum of $27,577 had been expended, $733 less than during previous year; the receipts were $3175. The treasurer, Mr. Henry Stern, read his report, making an exhibit of receipts to the amount of $86,863, and a statement of disbursements which left a balance of $2723.05 in the treasury. The membership of the association is now 618. The hospital had admitted 756 patients, of whom 639 were discharged as cured or improved, and thus 77 patients remain in hospital at the present time.

The free clinic has accomplished a wonderful amount of good, making rapid advances over previous years in the treatment of different cases. The number of consultations held this year was 25,800, against last year 20,922, a net increase of 4878. Consultations divided as follows:

Gynecology	2,024
Surgery	4,510
Internal medicine	3,080
Skin	3,428
Children	1,106
Eyes	4,883
Ear, nose and throat	2,907
Digestive organs	1,447
Dentistry	1,833

Besides this the outdoor physician, Dr. Herzman, has treated at their residences and his office a large number of poor people.

Dr. Loebner submitted his report as house surgeon, in which he congratulated the management upon the success attained. He stated that 247 surgical operations were performed on patients of the infirmary and 310 operations on outdoor patients.

The next order of business was the election of a board of directors to serve during the ensuing term.

Nominations were declared in order, and an election was held, resulting in the election of the following named gentlemen: N. I. Schwartz, S. J. Schwartz, Leon Kahn, Morris Marks, H. Heyman, Sam Blum, H. Aron.

The secretary then read a resolution which laid over from the last meeting of the association relative to

GOOD AND BAD LUCK.

Permea Delivered Before the B'rith Snalom Congregation, Louisville, Ky.

BY REV. DR. IGNATZ MUELLER.

Luck, my dear friends, good and bad luck, will be the subject of our discourse this evening. We do not intend, however, to enumerate the various kinds of worldly gifts, and qualify the same according to their value or desirableness, but to inquire into the opinions which men entertain about the mode in which worldly blessings are distributed here on earth. We think that the current ideas about good and bad luck, of which people speak so much, are altogether uncertain, imperfect and faulty, and cause more harm than they would suppose. They lead to grave errors and dangers, and therefore they cannot be indifferent to us. The most generally prevailing erroneous opinion about good or bad luck consists in presuming that there is a mysterious power in nature which, from mere caprice, without any reasonable motive, selects certain individuals as its favorites and showers upon them all kinds of gifts and blessings, while to others it not only denies everything, but even persecutes and oppresses them. According to this idea, which is entertained not only by the low and ignorant, but also by otherwise enlightened people, there is a so-called blind fortune, which distributes its gifts like the prizes in a lottery—by chance. It bestows wealth and honors upon its favorites, without much labor or effort on their part. Fortune comes to them over night, in their sleep, so to say. Whatever these lucky ones undertake or dare to do turns out to their advantage or profit. Their happiest dreams become realized. Every cloud and danger that troubles them passes over their heads without injury. But he that has the goddess of fortune for an enemy never prospers, however industrious, prudent and cautious he may be. A secret, irresistible power pursues him in a manner to injure and afflict him. For him no flowers bloom on earth. He has to drag his life along in hardship and distress.

That this is a very foolish conception can easily be explained by our holy Scriptures, for they never approve, nowhere sanction such heathenish errors of the human mind. Our Thorah, indeed, teaches us that every thing on earth is subject to God's will; that without His consent nothing is done. And if it is God whose wisdom alone directs all, where is there room for another mysterious power that could bring man to high honor or cast him down to misery without good cause or adequate motive—from a mere caprice? Can any one in his sound mind accept an idea which is contrary to the first principles of reasoning? For what could be this mysterious power that interferes with God's omnipotence in distributing gifts upon man? An inanimate power it cannot be, because an inanimate power has no life, can have no favor the one and persecute the other. If, however, this mysterious power is credited with all the attributes necessary to act in the way it is alleged to do, then it can only be a ghost, a bad or good spirit—then, however, those who believe in luck must not believe that they have outgrown such rank superstition of which Shakespeare says: "Look how the world's good people are amazed at apparitions, signs and prodigies!" Another error, not quite so obvious, but just as absurd and perverse as the foregoing, is to explain good or bad luck by ascribing it to the unintentional concurrence of circumstances. We often hear it asserted, especially by so-called "free thinkers," who, in their anxiety to avoid superstition, are the opinionated adherents of the bigoted idea that every event, desirable or dreaded, advantageous or injurious, is not directed by Divine Providence, but is casual; a matter of chance; or, as the bombastic expression is, the result of a strange combination of coincidences. We often notice that where the truly enlightened and pious person can see the finger of God, the superficially learned and scornful religionist assigns in his over-wisdom the leading power to chance. If one has recovered from a dangerous sickness, it was not God's hand that brought him up, but—as he foolishly feels ashamed to thank God for the good done to him, and as he thinks it too old-fashioned to believe in God's intercession, he points to some casual occurrence as the cause of his recovery! He got first sight or knowledge of someone or previously unknown or unperceived, and thus contributes to the well-being of the world some great discovery. Now if he is arrogant or insolent enough to ascribe the favorable course or termination of his attempt to his own capacities, he delights in the discovery of accidental advantages instead of giving God due praise for his success. How contradictory and conflicting is such thinking with the sentiment expressed in the words of our Scriptures: "God gave a decree which none can transgress. He has regulated according to His laws, and none are permitted to occur against the will of the Ruler of the Universe." The same reason asserts that God would not have created any, even the most minute, event were not known to Him. He would not be omnipotent if He were to permit the unintentional to happen. As certain as there is an all-wise and all-mighty God, so certain it is that no good or bad luck can happen by mere chance in the sense of an unintentional concurrence of circumstances, the one assertion being incompatible with the other.

There is still another error entertained by the lucky and unlucky children of Adam. Even those who recognize the fallacy of the two preceding errors consider good and bad luck as a chain of such events which—though occurring by God's decree—bear no relation to one's former conduct. They believe in predetermined and inevitable necessity. It is argued that our fate has been determined beforehand, and whatever may happen to us, it was prepared for us from all eternity; the complication of causes was from eternity spinning the thread of our being, and of that which is incident to it. No man can control his fate. What must be will be; and all our endeavors cannot prevail against what fate imposes.

Fate is above us all! We struggle, but what matters our endeavor. Our doom is gone beyond our own recall; May we deny or mitigate it?—Never!" [TO BE CONTINUED.]

LIFE A BURDEN

Pains, from which women suffer, often make living unendurable.

If you are a victim, do not remain one. No need. Most of such pains are preventable, curable.

Others have obtained relief, through Cardui. Why not you?

At least it can do no harm to give Cardui a fair trial.

It may be the very medicine you need.

 —Miss Ethel J. Seessel, who left Memphis last February, will leave Philadelphia for Atlantic City Saturday, July 18, and will return home about August 1 next.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Max Halle, who have been visiting at Rogers Springs, where they were delightfully entertained by their many friends, have returned to Memphis.
 —Mrs. N. M. Falk, Miss Rhett Falk and Amos Falk, of Kosciusko, left this week to spend the summer in the East after a short visit to Memphis relatives and friends.
 —Harry Kahn, prominent in the business and athletic circles of Argenta, Ark., was called to Memphis last week to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Fannie Kahn.
 —Mr. Alfred Plough, 270 East street, and Mr. Sylvian Solomon, 1038 Union avenue, have gone on an extended trip to Cincinnati, Norfolk, New York and Atlantic City.
 —Abe Cohn has returned from Nashville, where he attended as a delegate to the Democratic state convention. He lowing an automobile ride enjoyed her in the evening.

 —Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Karnowsky, accompanied by their daughter, Rosalind, leave Sunday night for a stay in French Lick Springs, Ind. They will also visit their sister, Mrs. Jacob Lipsky, in Louisville, Ky.
 —The postponed regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. H. A. will take place in the library rooms on Second street. As many matters of importance are to be brought before the meeting, every member of the board is requested to be present.
 —Hon. Albert S. Picard, who went to Nashville as a representative of the Shelby county delegation, returned to the city, giving a glowing account of the occasion. Mr. Picard enjoyed the distinction of leading the delegation to the Governor's mansion.
 —Mrs. L. C. Lebolt, 1365 Madison avenue, was awarded a prize by the Old English Curve Cut company for the best limerick. Prizes aggregating $3,000 were offered by the company for the best limerick on an assigned subject. Thousands of replies were sent to the company and there was a great deal of competition for the prizes.
 —Newton Stern, the son of our esteemed friend, Mr. Maurice Stern, is spending his vacation with the family of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hirsch, on Poplar street. Newton graduated with honors from the high school of Brookline, Mass., and was chosen the orator of the graduation exercises. His theme was "Deeds, Not Words," and will be published in the next issue of The Spectator. We heartily congratulate our young friend, who will enter Harvard college this fall, upon his progress and success.

summer resort during the warm days of the coming summer. It offers inducements in the way of free open air concerts and the best vaudeville ever introduced at a summer park in this city. Next week the vaudeville bill is an excellent one, and throughout the summer management promises a fine line of vaudeville. Next week, beginning Sunday, there will be an entire change of acts in the theater.

The great mammoth toboggan furnishes excitement and amusement to old and young. The circle swing is about the nearest thing to a flying machine in practical operation, and the one at "White City" is a delightful riding device, which is increasing in popularity.

The lake is well provided with boats and rowing is a popular pastime at the resort. One who loves solitude can find it in the retreats made by the great forest of shady trees that make a wall around the park. The lover of the life of vim and zest can join with the great throng of pleasure seekers and thus make the slow summer afternoon or evening a thing of enjoyment and not just of toleration.

ECZEMA
 The most irritating of all skin diseases, is without doubt one of the hardest to cure. Tetterine, when properly used, has never failed to cure a case yet. One enthusiast says:
 "After suffering with eczema for five years, and trying everything I heard of without result, I tried a box of Tetterine. After using a box and a half I am cured. Many thanks."
 Yours, A. H. Hottan, Old Town, Me.

Subscribers leaving home for the summer should have the "Epicure" sent to them.

We refer to Mr. Samuel Schoss, who has been almost a lifetime resident of Memphis, and who is prominent in Jewish congregational, social and lodge circles.
 Mr. Schoss solicits the patronage of his friends, and assures them prompt service, and the best coal for the money to be had anywhere. The Pittsburgh Coal and Coke Company also handles the best grades of Alabama, Kentucky and Anthracite coals and coke. Any orders entrusted to them will receive prompt and satisfactory attention.

The Epicure.

The Epicure, 202 South Main street, is a credit to the city and an evidence of civic growth and progressiveness. There is nothing else just like The Epicure in the city of Memphis. It is the most up-to-date enterprise of its kind in the city. The Epicure is a bakery lunch for women who care, a bakery for people who like and appreciate a first-class bakery with cleanliness and quality for its motto and a spacious and beautiful ladies' lunch and soft drink parlor. The lunch room for ladies itself is a great attraction. Downtown shoppers will find a place of rest, refreshment and pleasure.

The Epicure is in keeping with the times. The ladies' lunch will be served for business Tuesday. The general bakery lunch has been open seven days and has already attracted a large patronage.

The Epicure is altogether a model of a bakery. It is one of the best lighted bakeries in the South. The Epicure is owned by Messrs. R. M. B. Cooper and E. H. Cooper. Mr. M. B. Cooper has been in the city for seven years. He is the president of the Three State Lumber Co. and is favorably known. Mr. E. H. Cooper, formerly of Detroit, Mich., is the new place of business, and has twenty years' experience in the for ourselves, our children and the million aliens who yearly seek our shores.

To assume that the problem of today is easier than that with which our fathers grappled is an error. Everything must be purchased with a price. Our freedom, dearly bought as it may have been, is not paid for and secured until we have yielded up in full measure our debt to our less fortunate brothers to whom liberty is but a name.

Freedom means responsibility to be and to do. The door of opportunity is flung wide for the Jew in America, in England and in Italy, and they may and are becoming anything they choose, from poets to prime ministers.

But, alas, these countries contain only a small portion of the Jews of the world. What of the millions in darkest Russia? What do we owe to them?

Jewish immigration to the United States has averaged slightly more than 100,000 annually for the past five years, with a steadily increasing stream. Five-sixths of these immigrants are Russian.

It is unnecessary to discuss the reasons for their migrating; the most superficial investigation of economic and political conditions in Russia, Roumania and other foreign countries indicate that this vast army of oppressed souls is drawn hither by the free institutions and the wonderful prosperity of our marvelous country.

A distinguishing feature of the pres-entward movement of the races of the world is that it is an individual move-home for himself and his children for all time. Unlike the Italian and the Japanese, he does not hoard his earnings, hoping for that day when he shall return to his native land to spend the remainder of his life in comparative wealth and ease. The Jew comes to America to be an American. Of all the immigrant races seeking our shores he is for many reasons the most desirable. He is sober, moral, industrious, intelligent, devoted to family, fireside and altar, possessing marvelous physical endurance and never-tiring patience under hardships, as well as an ever increasingly high standard of living. These are surely sufficiently good qualities upon which to build citizenship. Though he may come to us poor and unlearned in the ways of our world, he need not remain so, nor does he remain so.

The Jewish Encyclopedia states that out of the 2,500 students attending the College of New York city, over seventy-five per cent. are Jews and more than half of these are from the poorer classes of the East Side—recent immigrants.
There can be no surer sign of innate superiority than aspiration for intellectual advancement.

The adaptability, versatility and recuperative powers of the Israelite is one of the marvels of human existence and constitute the genius of the race. His gravest fault is a Ghetto-bred tendency toward clannishness which may be overcome by judicious distribution and environment.

Friday's session opened with prayer by Rabbi Rauch, of Sioux City, Ia. The report of the Committee on Contemporaneous Jewish History and Card Index was received. Prof. G. Deutsch, the chairman, asked that the committee be discharged, and arrangements that the work already done be protected from loss, since it represented, however incomplete it may be, the work of years. This first request in its compliance was found to be unconstitutional. The report of the Committee on Harmonization of Mosaic and Modern Marriage Laws was received and after reconstitution was given further time. Dr. Kohler rendered a report on the Geiger Centenary, in which appointed members of the conference were to collaborate with European scholars in the production of a memorial volume worthy of the great Jewish reformer. The paper of the day was a scholarly presentation of the significance of the Bible for Reform Judaism in the Light of Modern Research, by Dr. J.
Morgenstern. A prolonged and eloquent discussion followed, bringing out many divergent views. The sum of the discussion, which was ably led by Dr. H. J.
Krass and Ettleson, proved that the opinion of the conference does not accord to the extreme views of the modern school of higher criticism.

The following were elected as officers of the conference for the ensuing year:
President, David Phillipson,
Cincinnati; vice-president, M. Heller,
New Orleans; treasurer, Charles S. J.
Peoria, Ill.; recording secretary,
Lefkowitz, of Dayton, O.; correspresent at the opening session of the conference, and was moved to this generous and graceful act by listening to the recommendation in this regard of President Phillipson in his message. The members of the conference, to a man, voiced their appreciation not only of the generosity of Mr. Altheimer's gift, but of the graceful spirit in which it was tendered, and feel that it will be an example to others to interest themselves in a cause which should appeal to every thoughtful man in Jewry.

IN MEMORIAM.

SOLOMON JACOBSON.

When the sun is sinking out of sight and the day is over; when night is coming on and the twilight is passing on into darkness, it is then that the beauty of sunlight is made known to us. And so it is with the fading light of those whom we have known or who have been dear to us, and who have lived the fuller measure of life allotted to man. Gentle and peaceful was the passing of Solomon Jacobson at the age of seventy-two years. He was a native of Malehow, in the duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and was married in 1862 to Johannah Cohn of Warin. This marital union proved to be one of happiness and contentment. Mr. Jacobson and wife came to this country soon after their marriage and established himself in business at Kalamazoo, Mich. After a number of years, they returned to Germany and lived in Berlin, and eventually returned to the United States to join their children. Recently they came from New York and visited their children, among them their son Charles, residing in this city, at whose residence he died, heart failure being the cause of demise. A venerable man was a true and noble, a person of many excellent qualities. He leaves his widow and three children, Gustav, Charles and

and entirely un-
many friends learned that she was lying at death's door they hurried to her side, but only to find that her sweet spirit had flown, leaving only the cold clay and a memory of gentleness and nobility that will long survive.
The deceased was only forty-two years old at the time of her death, and it is sad to reflect that in the prime of life and usefulness she should be taken from her loved ones. Gentle, unobtrusive, patient, full of affection for all brought into relation with her, careful never to wound by word or act, she leaves a sweet and abiding memory in the hearts of all who knew her.
The remains were taken to Cincinnati, where the last sad rites will be performed, in the presence of sorrowing relatives and friends. Our sincerest sympathy is with the bereaved ones.

MRS. JULIA BUSH.

In the death of Mrs. Julia Bush a venerable lady of over four score years passed away from this world of suffering and sorrow to spheres of everlasting bliss, after a long and useful life, in which she showed by word and deed the noblest and highest attributes of true womanhood.
Most of her life was spent at St. Louis, Mo., but a few years ago she came to Memphis where she lived with her daughter, Mrs. ...

We could recommend the visitor to the Spindel Mount on Elk street. The hostelry is located on one of the points on the mountain, or from the car line. While the noise and bustle of the city are within easy walking distance. Above all, the cuisine is excellent, consisting of the regular "home" cooking, Mrs. Williams, who occupies the Dell Mount, is an energetic, modating and congenial lady, always solicitous after the wants of her guests, and we feel no hesitation in commending her to the consideration of our readers. The rates are reasonable, and all inquiries for reservations are promptly replied to. Several Memphians, including the business manager of the "Journal-Tribune," have spent several summer months at the Spindel Mount, a delightful spot, and all attest to the superior advantage of the Spindel Mount.

SUDDEN DEATH Caused by Disease of the Kidneys.

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as kidneys are diseased, arterial tension is increased and the heart functions are attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uremic poisoning occurs, and the person dies and the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.
It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a large trial package of "Anuric"—the latest discovery of Dr. Pierce. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion—without charge and absolutely free. This "Anuric" of Dr. Pierce's is 27 times more active than lithia, for it dissolves uric acid from the system, as hot water does sugar. Simply a few Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. They can be had by mail. Write Dr. Pierce, Box 108, Littleton, Colo. You will be sure to get the package as you do on Dr. Pierce's Anuric Prescription, the ever-famous remedy for ailing women.

WORKERS' RESPONSIBILITY.

Kidney Disease is suspected by medical men. Patients complain of backache or irregular urination, frequent, scanty or painful passages. The general symptoms are rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headaches, dizziness, irritability, depression, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Thousands have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Anuric Kidney Tablets.

Church, and because of their friendship and association, he was one of the main dependences of the charity which Dr. H. H. Waters so quietly and effectively dispensed. There was hardly a ship captain who made his port who was not his comrade, and his home was filled with their affectionate souvenirs from almost every land on the globe. The evenings were his recreation times, like a prince, and in his home he would have made a regiment of volunteers, few, and delighted in the privilege. His home was really a group of homes, for he loved to have and insisted upon one thing around him. At the row at 121 St. Charles avenue. His wife was mated for his every mood and the matchless mother of ten children, and the sudden parting was a revelation that their youth was only the eternal.

SUGGESTIONS FOR WISHER RELIEF WORK.

Combine Organizations for War Victims.
A movement has been started to combine Jewish fraternal societies in an effort to raise a subscription for the relief of Jewish suffering of the country. One of the first to rally the women and a meeting of organization was held at the Hebrew Association, Heller and Silber were among those interested.

son. Although following Europe equals Caruso's, and there are those who believe that the golden tenor voice of this young Italian is second not even to Caruso. Ciccolini is only 28 years of age and is described as having "both godlike voice and godlike beauty."

A blend of sparkle, life, color and gaiety is noted in the performance of "The Society Buds," as given by Gladys Clark and Henry Bergman and a galaxy of dashing, dancing and singing beauties. There is a group of shapely maidens, who are fair, fresh looking and wholesome to look upon.

One of the bright particular features of the act is "The Chained Ankle Glide," which is a variation of the fox trot. This is executed by Mr. Bergman and the Buds.

It is quite unusual to see an act so handsomely costumed as that presented by the Lunette Sisters. These two very attractive girls present an aerial novelty, during which they make four changes of clothes, and each change is a creation bordering on a work of art.

in all directions. The natives are very dexterous with the spears, and the fish are so sluggish, owing to the effects of the utu nut, that very few of them escape.

Many of the "poisoned" fish seek the shelter of the coral reef and hide in the crevices; and so some of the natives "fish" the reef. They put on glass goggles and sink beneath the water, where they remain submerged for one or two minutes. They feel about among the coral for the listless fish, which they get with a short, thrusting spear. These methodical fishermen usually make the biggest catches; but the merry men in the open water enjoy the best sport. Numerous varieties of fish are obtained, but all have the brilliant and beautiful coloring peculiar to the fish of the tropics.—Youth's Companion.

The Locust as Human Food.

The curious species of insect life, known as the locust, which, according to its family traditions, visits and pays its respects to the outside world once in 13 or 17 years, has furnished much food for discussion among scientists, students and farmers. In addition to these there are others who anticipate with pleasure the advent of the locust, for whatever might be said about the strange creature, in spite of its destructive ability and its appetite for choicest foliage, it has one good quality which was probably discovered by no less a person than John the Baptist when he decided that specimens which he found in the desert were good to eat.

A Mother's Hand.

A mother's hand with its tenderness, its caressing, soothing, soothing promises of warmth after cold, of comfort after privation, of happiness after pain, with its melodious rhythmic movement which lulls and charms the troubled child, is the incomparable instrument of the corporal sequence of life; her hand strokes the child as if the whole service of the precedent ages had been to shape and perfect it as an instrument of maternal love, as if the great artist Time had bent over it, thought over it, toiled over it, planned, modeled, devised and imagined, till with the ripeness of perfection, he had rested content.—Henry Dwight Sedgwick in the Yale Review.

MACHINERY BAD FOR NERVES

Bound to Wear Away Vitality in Those Constantly at Work Amid a Perpetual Whir.

A great many men and women who work in busy factories, where there is a perpetual whir of machinery, are facing as great hardships as any work can bring. Consciously or unconsciously, the noise is wearing away their vitality just as a grindstone wears away the steel of the blade that is being sharpened.

There is a certain regular rhythm in all the simpler kinds of work. This is seen in the fact that most of them have developed songs of their own.

Sailors have their "chanties," soldiers march to the beat of the drum; spinning, weaving and farming labors have inspired songs and dances. Man is in tune with nature, too, and while the storm may produce awe it does not fatigue the brain.

The rhythm of machinery, however, is altogether too fast for human rhythm, and the body never actually becomes accustomed to it. No matter what may be a man's natural pace, he must follow the speed of a nonhuman power, which, like a fireless demon, drives him night and day. And, all the while, the whir of the machinery around him grates upon the brain unceasingly.

Sometimes we think we have got used to it.

Not so. We have been

PLAYS and PLAYERS

LYCEUM THEATER.

"Twin Beds."

"Twin Beds," Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field's human and humorous comedy of metropolitan apartment house life, which was hailed as the most amusing and enjoyable play seen in many seasons in New York City, where it completed a run of a whole year to crowded houses, will be presented here with a cast of expert comedians on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with matinee on Saturday, at the Lyceum Theater, under the direction of Selwyn & Company, the firm that gave the stage such memorable popular attractions as "Within the Law" and "Under Cover."

The cast organized by Selwyn & Company for "Twin Beds" is said to be of high class.

"Bringing Up Father."

As a rule, plays written for the purpose of making folks laugh cannot boast of continuity of plot or story. However, in "Bringing Up Father," the latest Gus Hill offering, which comes to the Lyceum, commencing Saturday, Dec. 18, for a stay of two days and a matinee, there is no doubt there is no trouble in following a tale strictly human and engrossing from every viewpoint. The characters are flesh and blood creations and not exaggerated type one might expect to see in similar contributions. This piece in its entirety, even from a literary angle, is the best production Mr. Hill has fostered during his long career as a producing manager. The piece, which was suggested by the popular cartoons of George McManus, is in three acts.

ORPHEUM THEATER.

Among the stars who will be with the show at the Orpheum next week is Ciccolini, Europe's greatest opera star and most remarkable tenor of our generation. Ciccolini was originally engaged for the role at the price of $3,000 a week and...

Catherine Chisholm Cushing's sparkling comedy, "Jerry," which is being given a splendid production at the Madison Avenue playhouse this week. The supporting company was never better cast and the four stage settings are far above the usual in splendor.

For the coming week, beginning Monday night, Dec. 5, "Help Wanted," a rapid action comedy-drama dealing with life among the sky-scrapers, will be Miss Bunting's offering. It was in "Help Wanted" that Miss Bunting scored a pronounced success last season on her starring tour. Every stenographer should see the play. It is a great lesson, but not preachy. Matinees will be given Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

PRINCESS THEATER

"The Broken Coin."

The Princess Theater is now showing every Tuesday in addition to other interesting moving picture reels, "The Broken Coin," which will run for thirteen consecutive weeks. It is well worth seeing.

"The Broken Coin" was written by Emerson Hough, author of "The Mississippi Bubble," "Forty-Four-Forty or Fight," and other famous novels, and is produced by the universal exhibitors under the direction of Francis Ford, who also takes the leading male part.

"Neal of the Navy."

The topic of the times now is the navy and in this great serial by William Hamilton Osborne, produced by Balboa, the career of a young man is traced from his enlistment as a sailor in the American navy to his promotion as a commissioned officer. The scenes of navy life are taken with the approval and sanction of the Secretary of the Navy. Woven into the adventurous life of the hero is a love affair with a beautiful girl.

Obituary

Mr. Alf Bensinger.

After an illness of eight months of several diseases, Alf Bensinger, manager of the McConnell Furniture Company, died at 10:45 o'clock last Sunday night in the Gartly & Ramsay Hospital. He was 50 years old.

Mr. Bensinger had been a resident of Memphis for 17 years. He is survived by a widow and three sons, Carl Lloyd and Julian Bensinger. He had also made a host of friends during his residence here.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the residence, 16 South Barksdale Street.

Mr. Bensinger was a member of the local Masonic fraternity.

Mr. Jake Godsky.

Jake Godsky, one of the oldest carriers on The News Scimitar, in point of service, died at his home, corner Woodlawn and Volentine Avenue, early Tuesday morning, after an illness of several months. He is survived by his widow and three children.

Mr. Godsky was born in Bialystok, Russia, 50 years ago. He came to America at the age of 30 years, and has lived in Memphis for 15 years. For 12 years he has carried a route on The News Scimitar.

By hard work and close attention to his business Mr. Godsky has managed to accumulate a modest competency.

MANHATTAN CLUB

The members of the Manhattan Club, one of the progressive Jewish organizations of Memphis, entertained its members with a delightful dancing party Sunday night, complimentary to its president, Edward Oser. The affair was given at Mr. Oser's residence on McLemore Avenue, and proved one of the most auspicious occasions in the history of the club.

The residence was most attractively decorated in pink roses, ferns and...

our columns, in Germany the criminality of Jews is generally extolled above that of Judaism. According to statistics of Christians, and still the efficacy of the moral influences of Catholic countries, vice is more prevalent than in Protestant countries, in other lands again crime was in excess in Protestant districts. The religion in itself as a moral factor would produce equal bene-creed would be universally exemplified in conduct, and if ignorance increase wickedness and crime. The less man does insist upon more upon ethical culture, the more man gains in knowledge more fully will he realize that morality is supreme over every- that the welfare and happiness of the human race depends upon of the truth that virtue is wisdom and vice is folly, that not righteousness, will save man with an everlasting salvation.

our sacred duty to honor and respect the dead, the lavish expen- sion upon funerals and costly monuments is a great folly and away with. It would be far more advisable to spend some of the benefit of the living by contributing toward the support of educational institutions. By doing this the memory of our de- l be perpetuated in a far more noble manner than by erecting monuments in the cemeteries.

FEAST OF LIGHTS.
 One of the most interesting half-holidays in the Jewish calendar begins this year on Saturday evening, December 12th, and lasts for eight days. It is known as Chanukkah, the Feast of Dedication, and though not observed by special services in the synagogue, it is eagerly looked forward to by the children of the Jewish household, for it has in large measure come to be a children's festival.
 The historical background of the celebration is the fact that in the year 167 B.C. the Jews, who had been expelled from their land by the Syrians, returned to their land and re-dedicated the Temple in Jerusalem. The festival is a reminder of the fact that in the year 167 B.C. the Jews, who had been expelled from their land by the Syrians, returned to their land and re-dedicated the Temple in Jerusalem.

Lime Starvation Causes Tuberculosis

In the Medical Record (New York) of December 18, 1909, Dr. John F. Russell says: "The condition which is recognized as preceding the active development of tuberculosis in the adult may be considered as due to lime starvation. Among inorganic substances lime salts appear to be of special physiological importance. Both the salts are not in organic combination, it is difficult to suppose that the cells can appropriate them for food."
 Years of widespread use confirm our belief that the success of Eckman's Alternative in tuberculosis is due largely to its content of lime, in such combination with other valuable ingredients as to be easily appropriated by the cells. Doubtless this has had much to do with the results in many cases which appear to have yielded to it. As it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try. Price $1 and $2 per bottle. Sold by leading druggists or sent direct from the Laboratory. We would like to send you a booklet containing information of value and references.

MISS BLUMENFELD'S MISSIONARY WORK
 Miss Mena Blumenfeld of Starkville, Miss., has organized two classes for the religious instruction of the children in her community.
 Miss Blumenfeld is actuated by a true missionary spirit. She has organized these classes for the children "so that their faith will be something real and vital to them and that they will not feel that they are Jews merely because their parents are." It seems to be a tradition in Miss Blumenfeld's family to engage in this religious work. Her grandfather, Mr. Simon Blumenfeld, had been very much

THE JE

True Sisters Lodge

The sixty-first anniversary of the order of "True Sisters" was elaborately celebrated in New York, from Tuesday, Nov. 30, to Dec. 2, by the grand lodge of the order.

Mrs. Sol Coleman, president of the local lodge, "Regina," and Mrs. Henry Oppenheimer, past president and president monitress, left last week to attend the celebration. Mrs. Coleman was initiated into the grand lodge, and Mrs. Oppenheimer was the delegate from "Regina."

Mrs. Coleman has been a prominent worker for many years in all that pertains to the uplift of women. She is a woman of unusual graciousness and executive ability.

The program by the grand lodge for the entertainment of the delegates and members of the order from all over the country was as follows:

Tuesday morning, Nov. 30, at 9 o'clock, "Jubilee" meeting at rooms of the grand lodge.

Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 1, at 1 o'clock, Hippodrome theater party.

ELECTRIC SHOW IS OPENED BY JOVIANS

Great Crowds Enjoy Electrical Wonders at Show of Jovians.

What was termed by Memph's Jovians as the "second grand opening" of the Electrical Show, in the old Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Building on Madison Avenue, occurred Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

C. K. Chapin, president of the Memphis Jovian League, estimated that the attendance up to and including the noon hours, was greater than at the 1913 show during an entire day.

Monday night was designated as "Chapin Night," and all hands joined with the Jovians to make it one not to be forgotten.

W. N. Matthews of St. Louis, past reigning Jupiter of the National Jovians, presented Mr. Chapin a fine set of silverware, saying that throughout the United States and Canada there were 70 Jovian Leagues, but Memphis had set such a pace the others could not keep up.

Ell C. Bennett of St. Louis, reigning Mercury of the National Jovians, said the Memphis electrical show is one of the best and most educational he had ever attended.

J. F. Ramier, Jovian congressman from the Memphis district; W. R. Herstein, former congressman, and C. M. Ninger, prominent Jovian, made short talks.

Exhibits at the show occupy three floors in the building. Many booths from local electrical contractors have been arranged on the different floors. The magnificent show will continue throughout this week.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal action. It neutralizes the acids which longer irritates

RELIGION AS A MORAL FACTOR.

Religion, especially as it is in Judaism, emphasizes the deed more than the creed, and points to knowledge as a perfecting power in the evolution of morality. "The ignorant man cannot be a pious man," as a moral aphorism conveys an essential truth. Man's pre-eminence over the beast consists not merely in a special faculty, but in his greater knowledge and in his greater capacity to acquire knowledge of his manifold relations to his environments. Whatever progress the coming man may make, compared with the man of today, larger knowledge of himself, of his spiritual nature, will be his distinguishing characteristic. It is often remarked that mere knowledge is no evidence of moral character. By itself, of course, knowledge will not lead to moral perfection; without the religious sentiment, no intelligent man will make for righteousness. But on the other hand, it is no less true that one of the essentials in man's moral progress is in his undeniable capacity for knowledge and his ability to methodize this knowledge. The whole tendency of moral civilized life is to repress the savage instincts and traits of man's nature, and to develop and intensify those qualities of mind and heart which appear in a late period of his development and which even now are often reduced to weakness by the reappearance of brutality among some individuals of the present time. Fortunately, however, the influence of constantly increasing knowledge, aided by the ethical principles in religion, is eradicating the results of ages of ignorance and superstition, and human society, in the aggregate, conforms more to the higher standards of morality. Inconsistency between conviction and conduct becomes thus less general and creed and character more in harmony with each other.

That men are coming to understand more fully than they did in the past that virtue is wisdom and vice is folly, can be clearly shown. That they now understand better than they did formerly what constitutes a virtuous character and what a vicious life means, is sufficiently evident from a comparison of this age with that of Pericles or Augustus, of Elizabeth or George III. Hence it is reasonable to expect moral progress in the future. There are still vestiges of the primitive lower state of man in our civilization, the sensual is still a strong, dangerous under-current beneath the waves of the ocean of life. With multiplied relations and increased complexity of social life, man is placed in a greater variety of positions, and subject to a far greater moral strain. The existence, therefore, in civilized society of a multitude of evils, unknown to many barbarians, is an unavoidable incident in the evolution of institutions and industrial pursuits that distinguish civilized from savage life. Even the influence of religion cannot remove the effect of those conditions in a speedy manner. A3

The federation consisted of a number of Jewish societies, every one of which was represented at the meeting. The federation was organized about three years ago and had nearly 800 members. It looked after individuals and assisted, among other institutions, the Jewish Sheltering Home, in which more than thirty small children are looked after.

NEW CHARITY ORGANIZATION IS LAUNCHED.

At an emergency meeting at the Temple Emanuel Wednesday night a new Jewish charity society was organized to bring relief among the worthy Jews of Denver. It will be called the Jewish Aid Society, and Mrs. Ray is a member of the City Board of Health and Corrections and prominent charity worker, was elected superintendent.

Prominent business and professional men present pledged their support to the new society.

Joseph S. Jaffe was elected president of the society, L. H. Gulman first vice-president, Mrs. Julia Morris second vice-president, Nathan Rothschild secretary, and Samuel E. John treasurer.

The following prominent men and women were elected to serve on the executive committee and board of managers, together with the officers:

Rabbi William S. Fridman, Bernard Flesher, Dr. Robert Levy, George Harris, M. D. Barnett, Mrs. I. Barnett, Mrs. M. Kleiner, Mrs. S. Piske, Dr. Saling Simon, Dr. Haskell Cohen and Max Schott.

...on day of the month of... temple was reclaimed and... to the service of God.

Around the festival cluster beautiful legends, which have helped to shape the character of the celebration. One such legend is to the effect that when the Temple was re-dedicated only a single cruse of oil was found unpolluted, but through the miraculous intervention of God this oil proved to be sufficient for burning for eight successive nights, and until other oil fit for the service might be prepared. For this reason, to this day, Jews light candles in their homes in celebration of Chanukkah for eight successive nights, one on the first night, two on the second, and so on.

There is a theory that even before the historical event which Chanukkah celebrates, the feast had been observed by Jews as the beginning of the winter solstice, and that its origin is common with that of the Christian Christmas and the Roman Saturnalia, which occur at about the same season, and which are likewise celebrated by the lighting of lights and the interchange of gifts.

Among the Jews, Chanukkah is a time for rejoicing, not only on the part of the children, but as well on the part of the poor, who are always liberally remembered.

Federation of Jewish Farmers

An interesting program has been tentatively arranged by the executive committee of the Federation of Jewish Farmers of America for its seventh annual convention to be held at New York City from Dec. 5 to Dec. 8. Due to the fact that no definite answers have been received from some of the speakers, there may be some changes and additions to the program. The convention will be held at the Educational Alliance Building, 197 East Broadway, New York City.

CANCER TREATMENT Proves Successful.

It is a strictly medical treatment used internally and externally. Dr. O. A. Johnson, Suite 492, 1320 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., has used this combination treatment for more than sixteen years with remarkable success and without using the knife. It can now be proved by living witnesses who came from many states and received this treatment three to fifteen years ago with no signs of return of the disease. Full particulars and proof of this rational treatment will be sent free to anyone writing for it.

The Creoles of Louisiana,

the descendants of the original Spanish and French settlers, prided themselves upon their hair—and rightly they should—for it was they who first knew the secret of beautiful hair, the one great successful remedy for hair diseases and the greatest of all hair foods.

PADUCAH SISTERS CHARITY

The Sisterhood of Temple Israel, Paducah, Ky., began its second year of existence with an interesting meeting which gave rise to much discussion of plans for its future activities.

The most important result of the meeting was the establishment of a fund for charity as a substitute for flowers in honor of the dead. It is expected that this method will soon become the favorite way of showing respect and honor for those who have left this earthly sphere. Mrs. Herman Friedman was appointed custodian of this fund and was instructed to send the donations received to the institution designated by the bereaved family.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Mrs. Joseph B. Levison, president; Mrs. Jacob Hecht, vice president; Mrs. Jesse B. Loeb, secretary, and Mrs. E. Fels, treasurer.

LITERARY REVIEW.

"The Delineator."

The Delineator for December is a typical holiday number. Important features of this issue are "Watching the Wheels Go Round," "The Card," "Julia Ward Howe," "The Motto Over the Mantelpiece," "Fairy Operettas," "The Princess Julian of Holland," and "Christmas Ideas from Delineator Homes." There are also timely fashion notes, useful Christmas suggestions and some excellent household hints.

The Motion Picture Magazine for December is replete with the usual good stories. The gallery of picture players also contains splendid likenesses of popular movie actors. Among some of the best stories in this magazine are "Pennington's Choice," "The Iron Strain" and "As the Twig Is Bent."

The Moving Picture Weekly contains many interesting stories this week, all profusely illustrated. It also contains some clever sketches of popular motion picture actors.

in that case," added the Armenian, who had just entered, "I know of certain means which have proved efficacious on other occasions."

So saying, he seized a large whip and made it whistle through the air with such force that his pretty wife broke out into a loud, brutal laugh.

The prisoner made no reply, lowered his head, and yielded himself to their mercy.

Sahag employed him at various work in the house and gardens. Naome proving himself capable and willing. In a month's time the Armenian was sufficiently well satisfied with his docility to offer him for sale to a rich widow who was desirous of purchasing a slave.

Naome cast a timid glance upon his possible owner; she was a graceful, slender woman of medium height, enveloped in a blue cloak embroidered in gold, and he noticed, in spite of her thick veil, that the dark eyes examined him attentively. "I am offering you a perfect jewel," said Sahag, touching Naome upon the shoulder; "young, strong, intelligent, and of excellent family. You will find him perfect, Zamira Ben Oporto, and I warrant you would much prefer having such a face as this before you than that of a repulsive negro."

Zamira made no reply, contenting herself by making a careful examination of the merchandise offered. She inspected his teeth, his muscles, his arms, very much as she would have examined a young horse in whom she did not propose being deceived, and finally giving him two vigorous blows upon the chest, she nodded acquiescently and began bargaining with Sahag. The discussion consumed considerable time, but at last the price was agreed upon, the widow paid for her new slave, and an hour later he was in her house.

Zamira was the widow of a wealthy merchant. She carried on an extensive business with the Indies, dealing in Eastern stuffs, slippers, jewels, pipes and arms, and her three merchant ships from that moment he was hers by that divine right which knows neither command nor obedience. Her presence filled his soul by day, and by night the thought of her controlled and possessed him.

One day Zamira summoned him and announced that henceforth he should be one of her personal slaves. He gazed upon the lovely creature as she rested luxuriously against the silken cushions. Truly she was fair to look upon. Her long Persian cloak, studded in silver and lined with ermine, revealed the graceful outlines of her figure, and her unhappy servant felt his whole body thrill as with an electric shock as he listened in respectful silence to her command.

Letting her dark piercing eyes linger upon him for an instant, Zamira ordered him to put on her slippers and then bade him bring her coffee.

Naome obeyed, but in his trepidation he stumbled upon the rug and upset the precious Mocha.

"Stupid!" cried Zamira, in a rage, "I shall have to give you a lesson!"

She rose, seized the whip which was always near at hand for such emergencies, and despite Naome's falling on his knees before her, and crossing his arms in submission, she let the lash whistle through the air and gave him several cuts across the back, then throwing her instrument of torture behind her, she ordered the culprit to quit the room.

When he had gone she threw herself upon the divan, bit her nails in the wild heat of her anger, and finally, yielding to the feeling of shame that overwhelmed her, reproached herself bitterly and burst into a flood of tears.

But Naome was kissing the stripe upon his arm where his mistress' lash had fallen.

That same evening the new moon hung like a glorious jewel in the sky, and Zamira, attracted by the beauty of the night, had thrown her veil about her and wandered in the garden unattended. The soft, consoling light of the pressed be thou, O est the moon!"

Extending his arms three times toward the heavenly orb, he exclaimed: "As I stretch out my arms toward thee without being able to touch thee, so may my enemies remain far from me!"

Then waving the ends of his caftan, he added: "As I shake the dust from off me, so may I scatter all evil spirits and those who hate me!"

Zamira stepped suddenly from out the shadows.

With a cry of dismay Naome threw himself at her feet.

"You are an Israelite," exclaimed his mistress, and, as he made no reply, she continued: "Why did you not tell me this? I, too, am a Jewess; but, living among Mohammedans and Armenians, I have been forced to conceal my religion. Pardon what I have done to you. My reparation will be to give you your liberty. You shall return to your country by the first vessel that sails."

"No, my mistress, that punishment would be more cruel than the lash. Let me remain here. I ask nothing more than to be your slave. Place your foot upon my neck, and let me kiss it each time that it touches me."

Zamira gazed at him in amazement: "You do not detest me?" she asked in strange embarrassment.

"Why should I detest you?"

A glad light came into her eyes, and with a proud movement of her head, she said: "You may remain here, but not as my servant. That is impossible."

"Your will is mine," he replied, "all I ask of you is that you will not send me away."

The pretty widow laughed softly: "Can you imagine why I struck you?" she asked with a reproving glance.

"Because I was ashamed of who was not of your race," she replied.

"Zamira!"

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots become flimsy, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

The choir has always been considered an essential factor in promoting the beauty and solemnity of divine worship. For the Friday evening service a quartette was provided and during the past 50 years four organists, Prof. Chas. Winkler, Miss Mary Hitzfeld, Prof. Jefferson Hall and Prof. Otey Wilkins, the present incumbent, served in the capacity of choir leaders.

The congregation choir, which, through the efforts of Rabbi M. Samfield was organized seventeen years ago, renders the sacred music at the Sabbath morning services, and has proved a success all these years.

The present membership of the congregation is 325, most of whom are married people, representing over 1,000 souls, men, women and children, affiliated with this religious organization. The laws of the congregation require naught else of those who desire to become members but the payment of monthly dues.

Concerning burial in the cemetery, every Israelite in Memphis and vicinity has the privilege to have his relatives interred there, but to purchase a family lot it is required to be or to become a member of the congregation.

The following are the present officers of Congregation "Children of Israel" to serve the congregation during the ensuing year: L. G. Pape, president; Sam Schloss, vice-president; Sim Hirsch, secretary; Elias Lowenstein, warden; Sam Slager, sexton; Joseph Goodman, treasurer.

Board of Trustees—Jacob Scharff, Leon Sternberger, Simon Jacobs, Otto Metzger, Israel H. Peres, Joseph B. Levy, Frank Kahn and Joseph Rosenfield. The other members of the board of trustees, who hold over until next year, are: Joseph Newberger, Simon Levy, Dave Sternberg, Henry Henochsberg, Ben Goodman and Benj. W. Hirsch.

On Sunday afternoon and night, March 26, 1908, the Congregation "Children of Israel" commemorated an event that was a most memorable one—an eventful epoch in the interesting history of the congregation.

More impressive or more beautiful exercises than those witnessed on that day in the Poplar Street Synagogue in celebrating the Golden Jubilee of the Congregation "Children of Israel" it had never been the good fortune of Memphis to know.

The exercises themselves were of high character. The music was exceptionally fine, and the addresses of classic excellence.

On the pulpit were seated Rabbi M. Samfield and the officers and trustees of the congregation, and those who participated in the exercises.

Rabbi M. Samfield, in his Jubilee oration, recalled to mind the many good men who had founded and labored for the welfare and progress of the present Congregation "Children of Israel" of Memphis. He called to mind how the congregation had grown, step by step, from one year to another, from a small beginning of scarcely a dozen members, to the present membership of nearly three hundred.

Dr. Samfield laid great stress—and rightly so—upon the fact that during the entire fifty years of existence of the congregation not once contention or discord had ever occurred to mar peace and harmony.

Dr. Samfield closed with an appeal to the congregation to be "up and doing," to further increase their usefulness, and to push the project for building a new temple.

The entire program for the Jubilee services was as follows:

Overture—Semiramide Giochina Rossini
"Hear, O My People" Frederic Stevenson

Benediction Rabbi Pizer W. Jacobs
Huntsville, Ala.

In June, 1910, Rabbi Samfield was elected for life by the congregation "B'nai Israel" at a special meeting of the congregation, President L. G. Pape presiding. A resolution was offered by the board of trustees that Dr. M. Samfield shall be elected for life at his present salary, and with the privilege of the use of the parsonage, and that in the event of his death an annuity of $1,500 be paid to his widow during her lifetime. The resolution also provided for an associate rabbi to be chosen by the congregation. The resolution was unanimously passed amidst great applause. Dr. Samfield was congratulated on all sides. The generous act of the congregation had the hearty approval not only of the Memphis congregation, but by a much wider public. After these many years of faithful service to be thus honored, Dr. Samfield sincerely and most gratefully appreciated this testimony of affection and esteem.
